

Your guide to a successful application

Take the first step to securing your new role with East Sussex Healthcare NHS Trust by reading through this guide.

Is the job right for me?

Take some time to read through the job description and person specification. These detail the post duties and skills required. It is important that your application meets the minimum requirements of the person specification, so please read it carefully before completing an application.

When should I apply?

For some posts, we are receiving large volumes of applications, on these occasions we may close the post early. Therefore you are strongly advised to submit your application as soon as possible.

Completing your application

Education/qualifications– You should provide information on all qualifications you have gained, indicating the most recent first.

Employment History- Please provide details of your full employment history since you left full time education. This should include details of all periods when you were not working e.g. maternity leave, career break, unemployed etc.

Additional information- This is where you need to draw attention to your skills, experience and personal qualities and how they are relevant to the post you have applied for. Always refer back to the job description, person specification and Trust Values to help you. Please also explain any gaps in employment at this stage and also any personal attributes you possess which you believe show you demonstrate East Sussex Healthcare's Trust Values.

The Trust reserves the right to determine what is considered to be a satisfactory reference.

What happens next?

After the closing date for a job vacancy, applications are forwarded to the Recruiting Manager. No personal information or monitoring information is provided to the Recruiting Manager at this stage. Each candidate's application will be assessed against the same person specification. The panel will read through each application and will note which criteria each candidate meets.

If you are shortlisted, the Recruitment department will contact you via email to arrange an interview. This notification will invite you and outline the date and venue for the interview and any other details which are relevant – you will need to ensure that you confirm your interview slot. Your interview may be face to face or held remotely via MS Teams.

The panel is usually made up of two or three Trust staff with the Recruiting Manager taking the lead role. The length of interview will depend on the job. In general it will last between 15 minutes and one hour. All candidates will be asked the same set of questions and responses will be scored consistently against the essential criteria for the role. Following interview, you will be given the opportunity to ask questions of your own at the end of the interview.

Selection Tests/Presentations: A test is not always needed - it will depend on the type of job you are applying for. You will be notified within your invite to interview if a presentation/test is applicable. When a test is used it could take place either before or after your interview. Tests are used to measure specific criteria such as presentation skills or the ability to process work accurately. They could include presentations, IT skills assessments, accuracy tests or observational workshops.

Please note we are not always able to offer alternative interview dates, please make every endeavour to attend the date that you are offered.

Offer of employment /Salary

A verbal offer is made initially, followed by a written conditional offer (dependant on satisfactory pre-employment checks) if you are made an offer of employment it is very important that you complete and return all required information as soon as possible so as to not delay the recruitment process. Salaries are set in line with NHS Terms and conditions, subject to confirmation of previous relevant NHS experience. If you do not have NHS experience you should expect to start on the base point of the salary grade quoted.
