"I was glad to make the move to East Kent for a better work-life balance. I have three young children and when I worked in London I hardly saw them. Now I can see them every day."

Children's Ward Manager

Training and development

At East Kent Hospitals we're passionate about our people, so we provide and encourage access to training and development. Our values

We are focused on providing outstanding, safe patient care, and a positive working culture that benefits staff and patients alike. We care about our values of caring, safe, respect and making a difference. We'll ask you to demonstrate these values during the recruitment process and throughout your time with us – and you can expect us to do the same.

"It was daunting when I first started, but the Ready to Care course helped a lot. I didn't realise how much I would learn - it's fantastic to think I am working towards my future."

Marie Muir

We care about our people, and believe we can only give the best care to our patients when we are well looked after ourselves. We provide a comprehensive range of staff support services – including support for your mental health and wellbeing, and access to independent financial advice. We are an equal opportunities employer, with active staff networks building an inclusive and supportive place to work.
